

The Two-Pot Retirement System and your future

Why is the two-pot retirement system being implemented?

The two-pot retirement system is part of the government's overall retirement reform program set to improve the retirement outcomes for all South Africans. The long-term goal of a retirement fund is to prioritise saving towards retirement but the reform program allows members to access the saving portion of their retirement benefit only for unexpected expenses and during financial distress.

Which funds will be impacted?

The new system will impact all retirement benefits in umbrella, preservation, and retirement annuity funds.

When is the two-pot retirement system being implemented?

The two-pot retirement system is proposed to be implemented on 1 September 2024.

How will the two-pot system work?

Your retirement benefit will be split into three different components.

What does the two-pot retirement system mean for me?

VESTED COMPONENT

Existing benefits

- All existing investments and future investment growth will retain their current rules.
- Should you leave your employment, you can choose to remain in the fund, transfer to another approved retirement fund, or receive the funds in cash.

10% of the investment value on 1 September 2024 will be transferred to the savings component. This amount will be capped at R30 000 and form part of the savings component.

Retirement savings on 31 August 2024

SAVINGS COMPONENT

Funded portion plus one-third of future contributions

- You will have access to one withdrawal per tax year.
- The minimum withdrawal amount is R2 000.
- Once you retire you will have access to the balance in your savings pot.

Withdrawals from the savings component will be taxed at your marginal tax rate and will have a significant impact on your journey towards a sustainable retirement.

All contributions from 1 September 2024

RETIREMENT COMPONENT

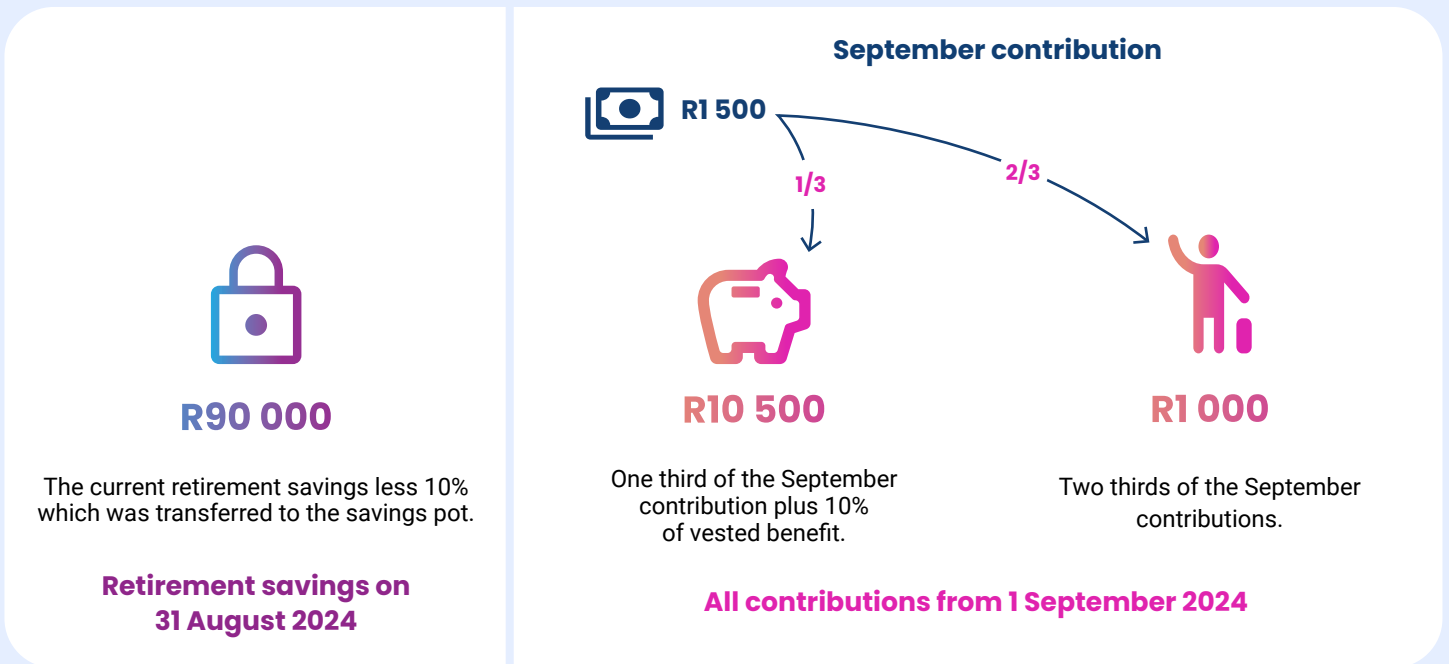

Two-thirds of future contributions

- Use your retirement component to purchase a pension.
- You cannot withdraw from these funds once you resign or retire unless the value at retirement falls below the threshold of R165 000.

Example of the two-pot retirement system for a member in an umbrella or retirement annuity fund

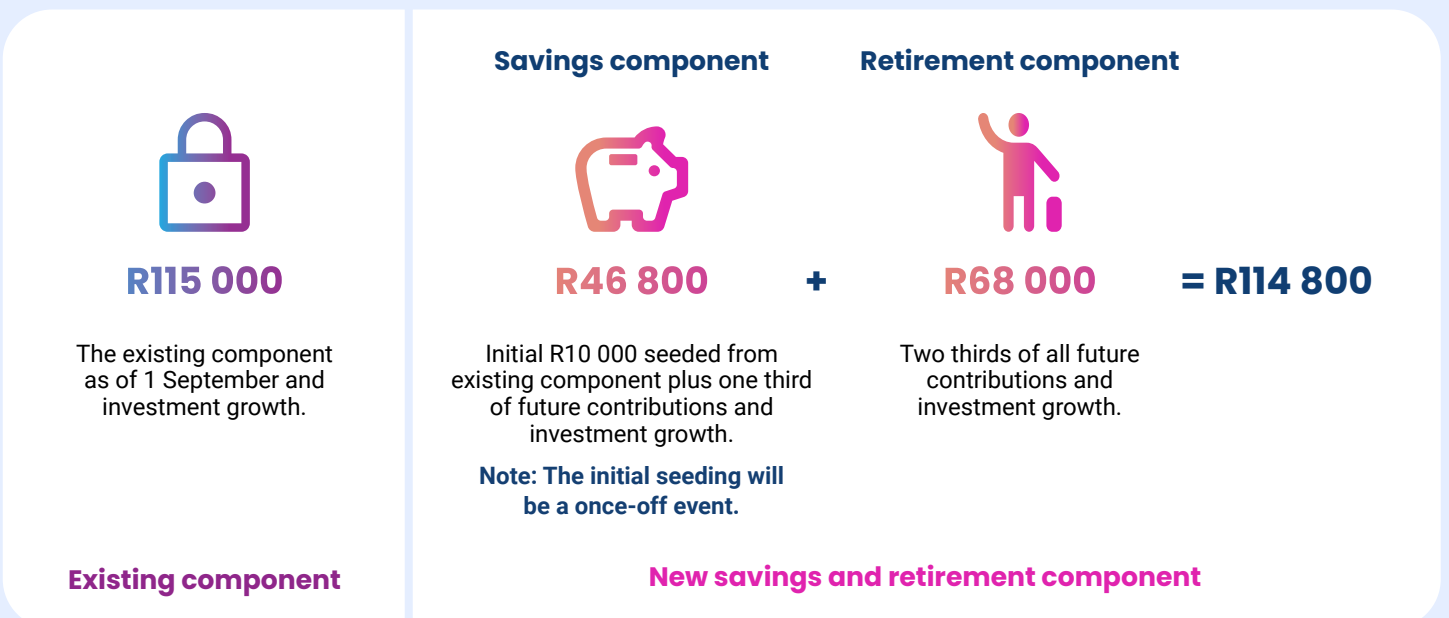

Thandiswa currently has R100 000 invested in a retirement fund on 1 September 2024. Her monthly net contribution is R1 500. R10 000 will be transferred on 1 September 2024 to her savings pot for immediate access. Her monthly contributions will include R500 invested in the savings component and R1 000 invested in the retirement component.

From 1 September 2024 Thandiswa's values are:

The impact of the two-pot retirement system on Thandiswa's benefits and options after 5 years:

Thandiswa remained in the same fund and continued to contribute the same amounts for 5 years from the implementation date. Assuming an investment return of 5%, the respective components will grow to the values in the graph below:

Am I able to access my funds in the event of an emergency?

While it is tempting to access the funds available in the savings component, it is critical to understand that these funds should only be accessed in the event of financial distress or an emergency. Emergencies include family emergencies, medical emergencies, urgent home repairs, legal issues and natural disasters.

What's next?

10X will keep our members, management committee members, and HR representatives informed about the finalisation of the two-pot retirement system, as well as updates and enhancement processes leading up to 1 September 2024.
